

IPAF MEWPs for Managers

Course Duration: 1 Day

One in five UK construction sites are failing Health and Safety inspections, usually for unsafe work at height practices. The MEWPs for Managers course, which has been developed with the Health and Safety Executive, is therefore more essential than ever for those who plan, supervise and manage the use of MEWPs (Mobile Elevating Work Platforms) in the workplace.

Aim and Objectives:

MEWPs for Managers is a one-day training course aimed at Managers and Supervisors who need to safely manage work at height and the use of MEWPs.

Companies that use MEWPs need to know what their management responsibilities are – and what their legal responsibilities are. The course covers what managers need to know about the safe use of MEWPs on site, from planning the job and conducting a risk assessment, to selecting the right equipment and mitigating all possible risks.

DID YOU KNOW?

Under UK health and safety legislation, specifically, the Provision and Use of Work Equipment Regulations 1998 (PUWER) and the Work at Height Regulations 2005, employers must train all employees who plan, supervise and manage work at height and the use of equipment for such work.

'Every employer shall ensure that any of their employees who supervises or manages the use of work equipment has received adequate training for purposes of health and safety, including training in the methods which may be adopted when using the work equipment, any risks which such use may entail and precautions to be taken.' PUWER 1998
